

Cooking the Books: Developing an "Academic" Cookbook Collection

Whitney Kemble

Historical & Cultural Studies Librarian,
University of Toronto Scarborough Library

Includes historical and contemporary cookbooks that reflect the diasporic cuisines of Scarborough, as well as some foundational cookbooks to support diverse food studies at UTSC.

Development

Faculty recommendations
Vendor profile selections
Donations
Catalogues & trade publications
Social Media

Budget allocated: $1300/year 2015-18
Spending to date: ~$3100 (126 books)

Content

Main geographic regions and cuisines included so far: South Asian, Chinese, Canadian, US.

Non-English language pilot: 7 Chinese books

Areas to develop: West Indian, Filipino

Access & Assessment

Moved to separate shelves 2016

Online & irl promotion

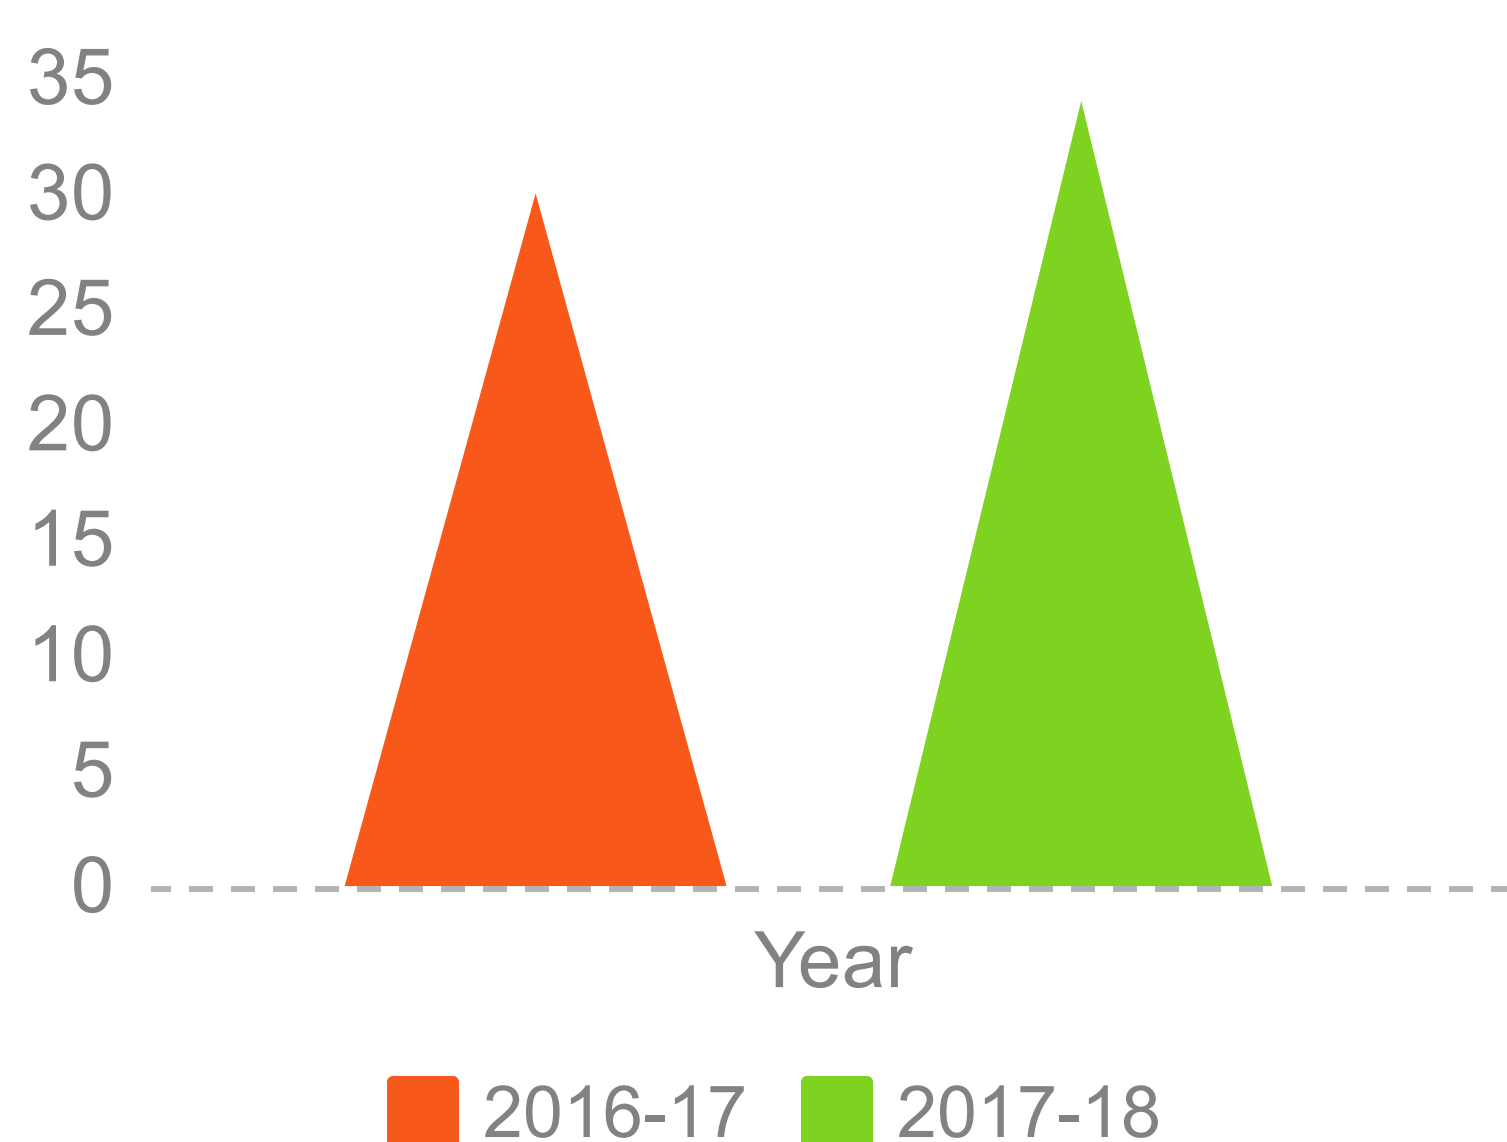

Collecting stats on circulation, in-library use, course reserves, assignment requirements, etc.

Course Integration

Foods That Changed the World
Asian Foods & Global Cities
Gender in the Kitchen
History of Global Foodways
History of Empire & Foods
Culinary Ethnography
Cuisine & Culture Across Global Asia

Circulation Statistics

Total Charges

38/126 books borrowed,
30% of collection

Borrowers by patron class

